Uzbekistan Airways participated in the 5th Central Asian Aviation Summit, held in Astana, Kazakhstan.

2024 13 April

The summit focused on advancing air transportation in the South Eurasian region and showcasing the aviation and tourism capabilities of Central Asian countries.

The primary goal of the event was to engage the expert community, investors, and business circles in the opportunities available for the development of air transport, civil aviation infrastructure, and the tourism industry in the region. The event gathered a significant crowd, with over 270 attendees, including representatives from more than 35 airlines and over 10 airports.

It is worth noting that in 2023, Uzbekistan Airways also took part in the Central Asian Aviation Summit, which was held in Tashkent.
