Your best memories shouldn't have to wait!

They say that travel is the only thing you buy that makes you richer. But how often do we put our dreams on hold? After seeing a ticket price, we close the tab with a sigh, thinking: "now isn't the time for extra expenses" — and we go back to waiting for those "better times." Does that sound familiar?

With Uzbekistan Airways, your dreams come true today!

You no longer need to postpone seeing your loved ones until next year or save up for months for a family vacation. We have shortened the distance between you and your goal to just a few clicks:

- The smile of your mother, whom you haven't seen for six months.
- The wonder of a child seeing the vast ocean for the very first time.
- The silence of the mountains or the sound of the surf that gives you the strength to move forward.

With our new installment service, we take the financial weight off your shoulders by dividing the ticket cost into comfortable, almost unnoticeable payments. You book your ticket today, and tomorrow you're sipping coffee overlooking the Bosphorus or strolling down the Champs-Élysées.

The best part is left to you — choosing your destination and enjoying the flight. Applying for installments is done entirely online and takes less time than finishing your morning tea.

Fly to those who matter most. Stop waiting for the "right moment." It's already here!
