Particular attention was paid to issues of preserving cultural heritage, the role of leadership, and the development of science and culture.

Young employees of the company took an active part – for them, this was an opportunity to learn more about their country’s history, draw inspiration from its examples and take a fresh look at national values.

The figure of Amir Temur was held up as an example of a strong leader and far-sighted strategist, relevant even today.

The event took place in an open and lively atmosphere.
