April 12 – The Aviation and Cosmonautics Day!

2026 12 April

This memorable date is dedicated to the first human spaceflight. Today, aviation continues to connect countries and continents: thousands of flights each day link cities, shorten distances, and open new horizons for travel and communication.

Congratulations on this inspiring occasion! May every flight be comfortable and every journey bright.